

Welcome to the Community!

Oxted & Surrounding Areas

The Oxted & Warlingham
Ukraine Support Group

Welcome!

To our Ukrainian guests, we are happy you have arrived in the UK. We offer you a warm welcome.

To our local friends hosting Ukrainian guests, we are there for you too. Please stay in touch if you wish.

Despite the difficult circumstances in Ukraine, we would like to help you feel secure and supported while you are with us.

Our group is based in and around Oxted, Surrey. Other towns nearby include Hurst Green, Woldingham, Warlingham and several villages such as Limpsfield and Tandridge. This pack includes information about all of these places.

Each of the local towns has a variety of shops including hairdressers, cafes, newsagents, supermarkets and more. Some projects have been specifically set up to help Ukrainians meet each other. There are coffee mornings (two in Oxted, one in Woldingham), English language classes and other projects under development. In addition, many existing activities would be happy to welcome people from Ukraine.

If you have any questions, ideas, or just want to say hello so that we know where to contact you, either you or your hosts can find us at: oxted4ua@gmail.com

We will always try to help!

The Oxted & Warlingham Support Group

This welcome pack has been compiled by the Oxted and Warlingham Ukraine Support Group, with financial support from the Caterham Ukrainian support fund. We hope that you and your host families find it helpful and that you will be happy staying in our neighbourhood. The pack adds to information in the UK government welcome pack – also in Ukrainian and Russian languages, which can be found at:

Education & Learning

The UK has a strong state-funded school system that provides free education for all. However, parents typically pay for stationery, uniforms, PE kits, meals, school trips, and extracurricular activities. There may be funding available for at least some of those costs.

In addition, there are a number of independent schools in the area around Oxted, including Woldingham (girls only) and Caterham Schools. Independent schools charge school fees. However, there are a small number of places likely to be available at these schools specifically for people displaced from Ukraine.

For very young children playgroups can be free, but nursery schools usually charge, although funding may be available (depending on income) for children aged 3 years+.

Schools administered by churches are open to children who are not of that or any religious faith.

By law, all schools must have at least one department that specialises in supporting children with extra educational needs. This can include, but not limited to, Autism/Asperger's, learning difficulties, and disability. We also have schools that provide education services for children with extra needs, in our area, we have Limpsfield and Moor House School that provides this service.

OXTED & WARLINGHAM UKRAINE SUPPORT GROUP

COMING SOON: ENGLISH LESSONS FOR UKRAINIAN ADULTS

MONDAYS – 7:00 – 9:00PM
ALL SAINTS PARISH ROOM,
12 CHICHELE ROAD, RH8 0AG

English language classes are available for Ukrainian adults staying in the Oxted area. Experienced teachers will provide either group or individual lessons on Monday evenings.

For more information or to register interest, please email
theaccessibilityproject@mail.com

English Language Lessons for Adults

We are assuming that children will find school places quickly, so that they will rapidly learn English, particularly from new friends at school. Our focus is, therefore, on adults wishing to learn or improve their English language skills. Ukrainians we have met so far tell us that they are keen to learn enough English for a successful employment interview.

English language classes in Oxted:

Parish Room, All Saints Church, Oxted RH8 0AG
(behind the church, up the path from Chichele Road)
Classes held in person and on Zoom in and in person.
Contact: Abi Chapman / Tel: 07368 926050
Email: theaccessibilityproject@mail.com

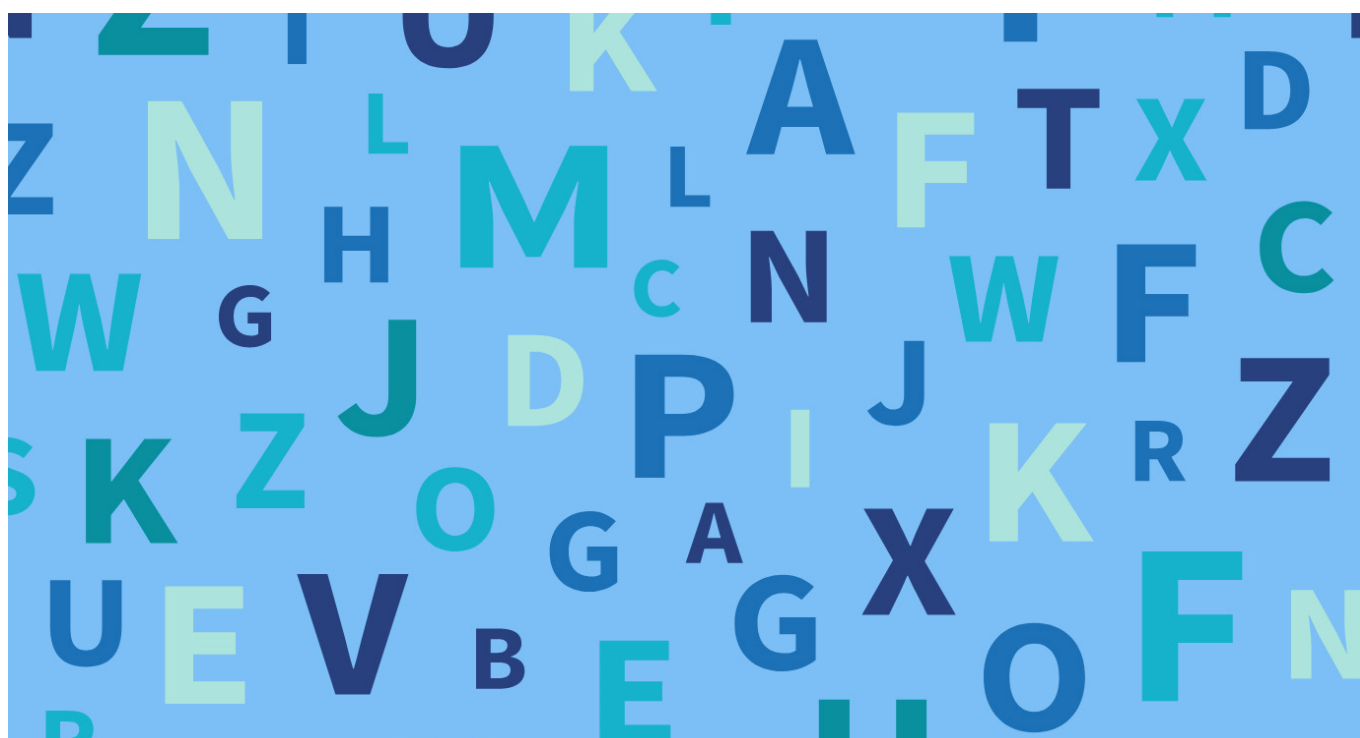

There are also free ONLINE English lessons specially for Ukrainians, organised by Surrey County Council. To enrol or for more information:

<https://www.surreycc.gov.uk/schools-and-learning/adult-learning/courses/english-for-ukrainians>

For those who may be vulnerable due to the ongoing Covid-19 Pandemic and easing of restrictions, or who do not feel comfortable leaving their hosts home, we can also set up separate one-to-one zoom classes.

We also have volunteers who are willing to help with transporting Ukrainian guests to and from English Lessons in Oxted.

If you have any questions, please contact The Accessibility Project at theaccessibilityproject@mail.com / 07368 926050

Employment and Work

Latest government information offering guidance about employment:

As the UK government continues to support those fleeing the situation in Ukraine, a new support pack has been published providing information for Ukrainians arriving in the UK. It includes information on DWP and the support and services we offer to those in need.

If you google: DWP support for Ukrainians arriving in the UK (1).pdf (English version) you will find a document on how the DWP can support you.

(Under development): Interim link here: <https://www.wigan.gov.uk/Docs/PDF/Resident/Crime-Emergencies/Ukraine/DWP-support-for-Ukrainians-arriving-in-the-UK-English.pdf>

There are many informal ways of finding employment – advertisements in newspapers or cards in shop windows—depending on what kind of job is being sought. Job Centres are government offices, run by the Department for Work and Pensions. You can go there to register for certain benefits while looking for employment, and for getting a National Insurance number. Jobs are also advertised in local newspapers and online by a number of employers and employment agencies.

Jobs in Oxted Area

Social Security

If you work, you will need a National Insurance number. Normally, you'll get your National Insurance (NI) number through the post just after you get refugee status. If you haven't received a NI number call the NI number application line free on 0800 141 2079.

Ask whether they've issued you with a NI number—if they haven't, ask what you need to do to get one. Full details about NI (how to apply; who needs one etc) can be obtained by going to: www.gov.uk/apply-national-insurance-number

NI is a key to receiving various government benefits, including when unemployed. NI and income tax are deducted from wages and salaries. You pay NI contributions and income tax from your wage. While the UK has a form of sales tax (Value Added Tax – VAT), all prices in shops, pubs, cafes and restaurants already include VAT.

Opening a UK Bank Account

For many transactions, including receiving government benefits, it is advised to open a UK bank account as soon as possible.

Following Home Office guidance, all major banks will apply flexibility around proof of address and other supporting documentation requirements in the account opening process. The following banks are among those having set up dedicated pages to support Ukrainian nationals:

NatWest Bank

Physical & Emotional Health

The National Health Service (NHS) offers a range of free services, including local doctors (general practitioners or GPs), emergency care and a variety of hospital services, maternity care, as well as dentistry and chiropody. These are mostly free and where there are charges, these depend on income. There are no charges to see a GP, to access accident or emergency services, or for hospital stays.

For urgent care, it is usual to go to a hospital accident and emergency department (A&E). However, there can be a long wait at busy times. Dial 999 for an ambulance for emergencies only, or 111 for less urgent medical advice if a GP is unavailable. The same emergency number (999) can be used to call police or fire services. For less urgent police matters, dial 101.

Soon after arrival in the UK, Ukrainian guests should register at a GP surgery. All of the local surgeries are aware that people from Ukraine will ask to register with them. It is usual to register at the GP surgery nearest to where you're staying.

GP practices will also arrange free Covid vaccinations.

For further general information about the NHS and how it works – in Ukrainian and Russian – please visit: https://www.centralbedfordshire.gov.uk/info/162/sponsors_and_ukrainian_guests/1152/health_advice_and_services_for_ukrainian_guests

Mental Health Services

We realise that many people coming to the UK from Ukraine will have suffered an enormous shock. Being separated not only from home, but also from friends and family may well cause anxiety and distress. For children from Ukraine, the nature of the distress may not always be easy to recognise.

The GP (local doctor), with whom guests from Ukraine are registered, should be consulted about mental health issues and emotional distress. GPs are already aware that those from Ukraine may well have emotional issues that need special care.

Our hope is that host families will realise the trauma which war can generate. Hosts have been urged to allow quiet time and space and to listen to their guests patiently when the time for talking happens. Guidance on this is available to host families.

We hope also that being in contact with other Ukrainians will help. Over the coming weeks and months, we will focus on various initiatives and amusements with that goal. The aim is to enable people from Ukraine to be together as much as they wish, while we support them too.

One local initiative, which we hope will help our Ukrainian guests to reduce anxiety and stress, relax and socialise, is open to adults and children. It is:

Other useful information

Transport

Rail:

Trains run from Oxted, Hurst Green, Woldingham and Upper Warlingham stations, all on the same line. They terminate at either London Victoria or London Bridge. Trains also go to places south, like East Grinstead. There are changes to other lines at some stations (notably East Croydon and Clapham Junction).

Maps in stations show all routes in the area and outside it. Train times can be seen at stations or online. Some printed rail network maps are available. Train services are provided by several train companies: take care to travel on the route stated on your ticket! It is often cheaper to book tickets in advance of travelling. Free travel is available for Ukrainian guests for the first 48 hours of arrival in the UK.

Southern Railway

Contact: All enquiries at stations or online

Website: <https://www.southernrailway.com>

Bus:

There are bus services within the local area and to places beyond. Copies of timetables are free from local libraries and are also listed at bus stops. However, the buses are not always very frequent – Hurst Green to Redhill is the most frequent and runs every half an hour. (Buses to Limpsfield Chart run infrequently. Not all buses on the Oxted to Westerham route stop at Limpsfield Chart.)

Buses4U is a bus service where passengers phone (usually a week in advance of a journey) to be picked up anywhere in the district. Phone 01883 701270 (www.buses4U.org.uk)

Citizens Advice

Citizens Advice (CA) is a nationwide network offering free help on a range of legal, housing financial and other issues. Each office is staffed by trained volunteers who will refer inquirers to others if they themselves are unable to help. They are particularly useful in helping with matters concerning housing and can help with applications for various benefits.

Local Government

There are three types of local authority: parish council, district council and county council. All have councillors elected by residents.

County councils are the highest tier responsible for main roads; schools; libraries; social services for adults and children; street lighting; and recycling centres. You live within the Surrey County Council area.

District councils provide housing, leisure facilities and environmental services. They maintain some roads; decide on planning matters; and arrange for refuse and waste collection. You live in the Tandridge District Council area. That is where guests from Ukraine should make first contact and register.

Parish councils are the lowest tier and have few powers and tend to oversee (but not decide) matters like planning, while also maintaining footpaths and providing litter bins and bus shelters. Depending where your home is, you are covered by the parish councils of Oxted or Limpsfield.

Places to Visit

The towns of Redhill, Reigate, Westerham, Sevenoaks, and Croydon are all within a few miles of Oxted, Hurst Green, Woldingham, and Warlingham. Croydon and Hurst Green can be reached by train. Redhill and also Hurst Green can be reached by bus (410) which passes through Oxted. Buses 594 and 595 run to Westerham. Reigate requires a change of bus at Redhill and Sevenoaks a change of bus at Westerham.

All places have a fairly wide variety of shops, cafes and eating places and all, except Westerham, have cinemas. Croydon, Redhill and Sevenoaks also have theatres, often offering entertainment for children. Croydon, which is a London council, is by far the largest town with many big stores.

Places of historical interest to visit locally

There are many places in the local area worth visiting, notably Chartwell, the home of Sir Winston Churchill, and General Wolfe's house, both in Westerham. National Trust also owns Knole Park in Sevenoaks – full of wild deer – and Knole House, which dates from the 1450s. These are owned by a charity, the National Trust, and charge an entrance fee (entry is free to the grounds if one walks in). Titsey Place in Oxted charges for entry to the house and garden but it is surrounded by extensive walks which are free.

Oxted, Woldingham and Hurst Green, in particular, are surrounded by open countryside, with numerous walks, woods and paths, reachable without driving. The local area also has town parks, like Master Park in Oxted.

London

London is only 20 miles from Oxted and Hurst Green (less from Woldingham and Upper Warlingham) and easily reached by direct train services (see Transport). London has an endless supply of entertainment and interest. Buckingham Palace, St Paul's Cathedral, the Houses of Parliament and many very large museums are on many tourists' itineraries. Day tickets (travel cards), which cover train, bus and tube travel, are available, as well as day single and return train tickets.

All the major London art galleries and museums are free. There are no formalities, except possibly a baggage security check, so if you go, please enjoy your visit.

There are also many smaller museums, where there may be charges, as there are for some very well-known attractions like the Tower of London, St Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey. (There is no entrance fee for Westminster (Catholic) Cathedral.) Of course, in London, there are numerous cinemas and many famous theatres and concert venues, as well as cafes and restaurants.

You can always check about entry fees to any venue online (or just to see what's available). Looking at a guidebook is helpful or going online. Local librarians are always helpful but we are sure that your hosts will also want to help, too.
